Destroy Reds, Break Morale, Aim In Korea, Marshall Says

GETS NATION'S HIGHEST AWARD. En route to Washington to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor from President Truman for heroism in Korea, M/Sgt. Ernest R. Kouma, 31, Dwight, Neb., is greeted at San Francisco by Lt. Col. Milton B. Herr, Sixth Army public information officer. Kouma, a veteran of 11 years in the Army, was cited for leading his tank crew in holding off an attack by 500 communist troops. Kouma has seen service in Europe, Alaska and Japan, but says the war in Korea is "much tougher." Sergeant Kouma is one of two Korea Medal of Honor winners living.

Vote About Average For Primary

Bond Issue Credited With Drawing Voters to Polls

An average-sized primary vote was indicated today by a check of 10 precinct voting totals made at 11 a.m.

The $2,900,000 school bond issue was credited with drawing voters to the polls, since there is no Democratic primary and few contests on the Republican party ticket.

Because of the lack of contests, election board officials were hard pressed to find a year to compare with this primary.

For purposes of comparison the Republican primary election of 1949 was being used as a barometer. A total of only 1,853 Republican votes were cast in that primary, even with a mayoralty contest.

308 Votes Cast

Ten of the city's 30 precincts were checked at 11 a.m. A total of 308 votes had been cast by Republicans, Using this as a basis, the total Republican vote in all the precincts might be roughly three times as great at the time, or about 924. Some observers felt the total vote would be double that before the polls close at 6:30.

The vote on the $2,900,000 school bond issue in the precincts checked totaled 461, indicating Democrats, who had no party contests to draw them to the polls, as well as Republicans were interested in the measure.

Vote Totals

The following is an 11 a.m. comparison of voting on the bond issue and the Republican ballot in 11 precincts picked at random.

Precinct 1-A 31 bond issue, 18 Republican; 2-A, 34 bond issue, 23 Republican; 3-A, 21 bond issue, 13 Republican; 4-A, 40 bond issue, 26 Republican; 5-A, 71 bond issue, 55 Republican; 6-A, 78 bond issue, 53 Republican; 6-E, 65 bond issue, 50 Republican; 1-B, 58 bond issue, 33 Republican; 1-D, 46 bond issue, 25 Republican; 2-D, 17 bond issue, 12 Republican and 5-D, 70 bond issue, 50 Republican.

3,000 Pupils March In School Parade

An estimated 5,000 persons watched 3,000 Marion school children parade last night in support of the $2,900,000 school bond issue for a new senior high school and school system rehabilitation, being voted on at the polls today.

The parade, which took 15 minutes to pass a given point, moved out smartly at 7 p.m. following the lead of Richard Lewis, president of the Harding High School Student Council, who was parade grand marshal.

Following his lead was Harding High School Band under direction of Homer Huffman. Scattered throughout the parade were other school band units which provided the cadence for marchers, all students from the city's public schools from the fourth through the 12th grades.

Fouts, Fogt Co-Chairmen

Clark Fouts, principal of Vernon Junior High School and Norman Fogt, director of pupil personnel for the school system, were co-chairmen of the parade committee which was made up of faculty advisors and student counselors of all the junior high schools and Harding High.

Allies Push Disgruntled Reds Back

Miffed at Soviet Failure To Support Drive, Officers Hear

TOKYO, May 8—(AP)—United Nations attacks rolled up limited gains today along the western and eastern Korean battlefronts.

Communist troops, withdrawing now in most sectors, were reported angry because they didn't get Russian tanks and planes for their spring offensive.

Limited attacks by South Korean forces gained three miles northwest of Seoul Monday on the western anchor. In the east, South Koreans pushed a mile and a half forward driving toward Inje north of Parallel 38.

Reports of Red discontent came from Allied officers on the western front. AP correspondent John Randolph said some U.N. officers believe there is hard feeling among Chinese and North Korean troops because they didn't get tanks and planes from the Soviet Union to support their recent ill-fated offensive.

Infantry Took Rap

The infantry carried the full burden of that attack, launched April 22. More than 80,000 Reds have been killed or wounded, by U.N. estimates. Monday 2,940 were reported killed or wounded.

Randolph quoted Allied officers that Red offensive preparations indicated they had expected both armored support and air cover. Roads were widened. Air fields were put into condition. But the support didn't develop and the Red infantry was unable to exploit its gains.

"I think that if they had any air and armor available in North Korea they would have used them in the April attack," one officer said. "As it was they took some terrible losses trying to do it all with infantry.

"If they aren't deliberately hoarding their heavy stuff up north (in Manchuria) there are only two solutions—either they couldn't cross the Yalu river, or else the Russians welched on their promises."

May Fear Attack

The officer suggested the Reds could be holding large concentrations of planes and armor in Manchuria to ward off any possible Allied blow in that direction.

To reach the front from Manchuria Red tanks have to run a gantlet of U.N. aerial bombs and rockets. And Communist planes

SAYS U.N. MEMBERS VETOED MACARTHUR. After testifying on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ouster and the Far East situation, Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall leaves the hearing room in the Senate office building in Washington. Marshall testified that MacArthur was dismissed as supreme commander in the Far East for publicly urging Korean war policy which the administration feared would lead to World War III. Marshall said that the administration favored MacArthur's proposal for "hot pursuit" of Communist warplanes into Manchuria, but that it had to be dropped when all U.N. member countries with troops fighting in Korea decided against it.

Claims Talks By M'Arthur Hurt Morale

"Bloody Stalemate" View Affects Troops, Probe Senators Told

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(AP)—Secretary Marshall said today the United Nations aim to win the Korean war by inflicting "terrific casualties" on the Chinese Communists, breaking their morale and destroying their trained armies.

The defense secretary gave that answer to senators pressing him as to what "foreseeable end" the administration's Korean war policies promise.

He was at the capital for the second day defending those policies against the bitter attack made by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, deposed Far Eastern commander who contends they offer nothing but a "bloody stalemate."

Marshall told the senators, too, that he is "disturbed" about the possible effect on United Nations men in Korea of statements from their commander (MacArthur) "which accentuate the casualties that they are suffering and in effect that it is without justified purpose."

Effect On Morale

"We should find some way," Marshall said, "of proceeding with this investigation that does not destroy us in the field by serious reaction in the way of morale."

Marshall said the administration's plan for Korea has been to "inflict the greatest number of casualties we could in order to break down not only the morale, but the trained fabric of the Chinese armies."

At this point the censor deleted 50 words from the public version of Marshall's testimony.

Then the Secretary of Defense continued:

"That is, inflict terrific casualties on the Chinese Communist forces.

"If we break the morale of their armies, but more particularly, if we destroy their best trained armies as we have been in the process of doing, there, it seems to me, you develop the best probability of reaching a satisfactory negotiatory basis with those Chinese Communist forces, without getting ourselves into what we think would be a great hazard toward developing a much enlarged struggle with consequently larger casualties or a complete world war."

The reference to "negotiatory basis" indicated that Marshall and the Joint Chiefs of Staff hope that if sufficient losses are inflicted, the enemy will withdraw and talk peace terms.

Retain Allies

Marshall said the course he had outlined would "retain our Allies, bring them to more satisfactory reactions before the United Nations as their confidence in our leadership in this delicate matter is increased, and generally improve the situation."

Earlier, Marshall had testified that United Nations troops in Korea are barred from approaching within 15 miles of the Russian border.

He said also that MacArthur had been ordered to confine his operations to Korea "and under no circumstances to carry out operations beyond the border of Korea into (Chinese) Manchuria."

There is every indication these orders have not been changed and still restrict the operations of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, MacArthur's successor as Pacific commander.

However, Marshall said there was a "modification" in the restrictions "in the event that our forces were attacked outside of Korea—to the effect that he (MacArthur was authorized to retaliate in bombing against such operations."

Need for Caution

Marshall, who like MacArthur is a five-star general, testified before the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees. They are making a general inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal from his Far Eastern com-

Annual Awards Of Pulitzer Prizes Made

Conrad Richter's Novel, "The Town," Is Fiction Winner

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—Conrad Richter has been awarded the annual Pulitzer Prize for fiction for his novel, "The Town," a story of a 19th Century American family in the wilderness.

In the newspaper field, the Miami, Fla., Herald and the Brooklyn Eagle won awards for meritorious public service. Both were cited for crime reporting during 1950.

No award was made for drama in the theater.

Trustees of Columbia University announced the selections yesterday. The awards in various fields of creative endeavor were established by Joseph Pulitzer, the late publisher, in a bequest to Columbia.

Two Associated Press correspondents, Relman Morin and Don Whitehead received prizes for international reporting. They were cited for work covering the war in Korea.

Woman Writer Honored

Marguerite Higgins, 30-year-old New York Herald-Tribune reporter, also was honored for Korean war coverage—the first woman to get a Pulitzer award for stories on actual combat.

Death Claims Movie Actor Warner Baxter

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May 8—(AP)—Death has stopped the horrible pain which handsome Warner Baxter, the movie's original Cisco Kid, suffered for years.

The suave, virile matinee idol died last night at his home. He was 62.

For years he had suffered from arthritis, the pain of which was so great that he was unable to eat. It also created a vitamin deficiency and the combination brought on slow starvation.

Three weeks ago, a lobotomy (brain operation) was performed to lessen the pain. Bronchial pneumonia set in to hasten the end.

Baxter was the second actor ever to win the top academy award Oscar—and a scared jackrabbit was responsible.

In 1928, Raoul Walsh, the famed director, was both directing and playing the top role of the Cisco Kid in the first outdoor all-talking picture "In Old Arizona."

While he was driving home from location scenes in Zion Canyon, Utah, the headlight's of Walsh's car frightened a jackrabbit. It jumped and crashed through the windshield, blinding Walsh's right eye.

Baxter replaced him in the role. Both the picture and Baxter won 1929 Oscars. Emil Jannings had won the first male acting Oscar the year previous.

Favorite Role

Although Baxter was one of Hollywood's top stars before and after the 1929 award, he always considered the Cisco Kid his favorite role.

Baxter's first movie role was in 1916 with Ethel Clayton in "Her Own Money." Before that he had been an office boy, an insurance salesman, a dancer and a juvenile lead in stock companies.

Anti-U. S. Pressure In Iran Grows

TEHRAN, Iran, May 8—(AP)—The underground Tudeh (Communist) party sent an open letter today to Premier F. Mohammed Mossadegh, demanding that the government ban on the Red party be repealed and that the American military mission advising the Iranian army be expelled.

There has been increasing reports in government circles that the new premier favors legalizing the Tudeh party, so its activities can be brought into the open.

The Tudeh party letter also demanded recognition of Communist China, rejection of foreign arms aid, release of political prisoners, an end to the martial law in the southern oil fields; nationalization of the Bahrein Islands oil fields. The Bahrein Islands, in the Persian Gulf, are claimed by Iran. The islands are a British protectorate, and Britain insists they make up an independent shiekdom with special treaty relations with London.

Earthquake Toll Mounting

SAN SALVADOR, EL SALVADOR, May 8—(AP)—Desolation, ruin and death blanketed area of eastern El Salvador today in the wake of the little Central American nation's worst earthquake disaster in history. In one city alone some 1,000 persons perished in the first shock Sunday.

As Red Cross agents and other relief workers rushed to the stricken areas, new tremors were reported yesterday in Santiago de Maria—already battered by the first quake—and in the city of Berlin. There were no casualties reported immediately from the latest quakes.

Worst hit by the initial shock was Jacuapa, a city of some 12,000 90 miles east of San Salvador. The government said about 1,000 persons were killed there.

Severe damage was also reported in the city of Chinameca, population 17,000, about two miles east of Jucuapa, and the nearby towns of Nueva Guadalupe, Santiago de Maria and Caserios. Hundreds of persons were injured in the area—200 in Chinameca alone.

Government officials said the number of injured might run to 4,000.

3 Killed in Crash Of Air Force B-26 Near Miamisburg

MIAMISBURG, O., May 8—(AP)—A twin-engine light attack bomber (B-26), apparently searching for a landing spot, exploded and crashed near here today.

The Ohio Highway Patrol reported three men were killed.

Miamisburg is 10 miles southwest of Dayton. Wright-Patterson sent a crew in a helicopter to take charge of the wreckage.

An eye witness said the plane was flying at 500 feet when its left engine caught fire. Then, he added, an explosion occurred.

The plane dropped, glanced off a tree and ploughed into a woods.

Parts of the plane and the bodies were scattered. The accident occurred about 11 a.m. (EST).

Truman Seeks Support For U. S. Policy

Repeats His Fear MacArthur Proposals Might Provoke War

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—President Truman sought to convince his countrymen last night that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Korean War proposals might provoke another world war and "death blow" atomic attacks on America's great cities.

Today he observes his 67th birthday and the sixth anniversary of his proclamation of victory over Nazi Germany awaiting reaction to his declaration that victory can be won in Korea. The first comment from Republican senators was to the effect they'll have to be shown.

Mr. Truman took a personal hand in the administration drive to rally public support for his course with a foreign policy speech to some 800 civilian defense workers here last night.

He declared that to expand the Korean War, as the general he ousted proposes, would bring the "real possibility" of Russia launching "death blow" atomic attacks on New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Seattle, Los Angeles and Washington and other cities.

Heavy Blow

On the other hand, he said, the free nations have stopped the march of communism in Asia and "dealt a heavy blow to the Kremlin conspiracy" all over the world by their fight in Korea.

"Remember this," Mr. Truman said, "if we do have another world war, it will be an atomic war.

U. S. Rejects Soviet Proposal For Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—The United States today rejected Russia's proposal to turn over the drafting of a Japanese peace treaty to four Pacific powers including Communist China.

Russia's purpose in advancing the proposal yesterday was to obtain a "double veto" over a Japanese peace settlement, the State Department said.

The United States intends, a department spokesman made plain, to go ahead with the present preparations for a settlement for Japan, with or without Russian participation.

The U. S. has been consulting 15 other nations in working out treaty terms and it is hoped to have a draft ready for signing within a few weeks.

Russia, in a note handed to American ambassador Alan G. Kirk at Moscow yesterday, proposed calling a council of the foreign ministers of the U. S., Russia, Britain and Red China to meet in June or July to draft a treaty.

ACTOR MARSHALL CRITICAL

HOLLYWOOD, May 8—(AP)—Actor Herbert Marshall, 60, critically ill with a pulmonary embolism, was reported improved today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. The British actor entered the hospital April 29 for a minor hernia operation. He developed the embolism (blood clot) after surgery and was placed in an oxygen tent. The hospital called his condition better but said he's still on the critical list.

Old Soldiers Very Much Alive

MacArthur, Marshall In Bitterest Fight of Careers

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—Two old soldiers, heavy with honors:

George Catlett Marshall, Virginia squire—70, grey-haired, reserved.

Douglas MacArthur, deposed ruler of a conquered empire—71, black-haired, by turns aloof and warmly genial.

They've much in common, these generals, besides the closeness of their ages. (MacArthur is about 11 months older than Marshall.) Both served with distinction in World War One, rose to the peak of military eminence in World War Two. Each was more than a soldier, too. Marshall became secretary of state, later secretary of defense. MacArthur ran occupied Japan.

But look at the headlines:

Charges

"MacArthur charges Marshall favored Chinese Reds."

"Marshall declares MacArthur spoiled peace change."

They're firing at each other, now, in the great foreign policy debate—the one which President Truman said last night "is not a political issue—it is a matter of life and death."

Marshall is on the President's side, MacArthur is against both of them—on some key questions of how to fight the Chinese Reds. The three profess a common purpose: preventing World War III.

This isn't the first time MacArthur and Marshall have clashed.

In World War two, in the aftermath of Bataan, MacArthur time and again raised a cry for troops, ships, planes to fight Japan. Marshall, as army chief of staff, often turned him down until the war in Europe was won. "Europe first" was the decision then. MacArthur still demands at least equal priority for Asia.

There's Pentagon scuttlebutt that the Marshall-MacArthur split is more personal than this.

Marshall was promoted to briga-

Ottawa Co. Grand Jury Ordered To Probe Slots

PORT CLINTON, O., May 8—(AP)—A grand jury was sworn in today to find out how slot machine owners have been able to operate freely in Ottawa County.

Common Pleas Judge Thomas Stahl told the jurors to investigate the racket. Twenty slot machine exhibitors were called to testify.

State investigators reported to Gov. Frank J. Lausche last week they found more than 100 slot machines in this county but that the machines later were removed.

County Prosecutor Myron A. Rosentreter says he has "ordered all slots put out of the county, and they are out."

Electrocution Closes 5½-Year Battle

Willie McGee Loses Fight To Escape Electric Chair

LAUREL, Miss., May 8—(AP)—Willie McGee, who fought a long, losing fight against being put to death as a rapist, died in the electric chair early today.

Political issues colored the final months of the legal battles on behalf of the Negro convicted of raping a white woman five and a half years ago.

The case attracted worldwide attention.

Up until the final hour, supporters sought a stay of execution from Gov. Fielding Wright; U. S. District Judge Sidney Mize at Jackson, Miss.; U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Wayne G. Borah at New Orleans; Associated U. S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black. Chief Justice Fred Vinson of the United States; and press. Supreme court had refused to review another three times. Governor Wright had once before declined executive clemency asked by members of the Civil Rights Congress.

Says Communist-Inspired

Wright several weeks ago attributed the thousands of telegrams, letters and phone calls he received at least in part to action inspired by Communists. Some of the letters came from as far distant as Red China.

Political demonstrations at Jackson, Miss., and Washington, D. C., marked the final efforts made this past weekend to save McGee. Yes-

Fashion Flash Today's

NEW YORK

BROWN WILL go to town next fall.

Experts on fashion predict that the color of earth; charred toast and dead leaves will be "the" shade of the season, for the first time in almost a decade.

Brown will come back in hues from spicy, gingery browns to dark, almost-blacks. They will be most high fashion when they're accented with black trimmings. For example, brown silk dresses will have black silk edgings . . . brown suits will have black blouses and linings.

The return of this color, started in a small fashion way in autumn, 1950, will bring about a strong popularity for its accepted complementary colors too.

And those shades include rust, beige, yellow and organgey-reds and yellow-greens.

Teachers To Tour Marion Plants Monday

Schools Will Be Dismissed For Visitation Program

Marion school pupils will get a vacation Monday while their teachers are touring Marion plants in connection with Business, Industry and Education Day.

Sponsored by the Manufacturers Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Leaders Conference, the plant visitations will be made by nearly 300 teachers.

Monday morning they will tour the plant of Marion Industries, Division of Motor Products Corp. and the North Main street offices of the Fulfillment Corp. of America.

Following a lunch at Moira Hall, they will tour the Huber Manufacturing Co. plant and the Aero Expansion Bolt Co. plant. The lunch will be served by women of St. Mary Church.

Aim of the program is to acquaint teachers with actual plant operations and processes.

Final plans for the visitations were made Monday afternoon at a meeting of industrial leaders held at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Don Howard, president of the Huber Manufacturing Co., is general chairman of the program.

Even bad weather Monday failed to halt "the day-by-day destruction of the enemy's war potential" the Far Eastern Air Forces reported. More than 900 sorties (single flights) were flown. Many strikes blasted highways on which 2,000 trucks were spotted. Of these 315 were claimed knocked out.

M'Arthur Leases Home, Connecticut Paper Says

STAMFORD, Conn., May 8—(AP)—The Stamford Advocate says General Douglas MacArthur had leased for two years a home on Contentment Island off Darien.

Col. Charles Lindbergh, noted flier, lives with his family on the same island.

The Advocate said that MacArthur, his wife and son would take up residence in Shennemere, a large mansion in a nine acre tract.

The island lies immediately off the coast and is connected with the mainland by a roadway that leads directly to U. S. Highway No. 1 in Darien.

MacArthur

dier-general in 1936 on the recommendation of the World War one leader, Gen. John J. Pershing years after MacArthur had attained that rank. MacArthur, who was chief of staff from 1930 to 1935, was reported at the time to have held up Marshall's promotion.

Coolness

Some say and others deny that a coolness developed between them during that period.

At any rate, they're not men who'd be likely to become bosom friends.

Each keeps to himself, each avoids public functions (MacArthur did, that is, until the huge welcome-home demonstrations, and each appears fully conscious of his unique position in the nation's military history. Rivalry between them wouldn't be surprising.

MacArthur has been wounded in combat, decorated for valor. Marshall's courage has often been praised, but he won his spurs as a staff officer—as a planner rather than as a battlefield leader.

Ironically the two old soldiers are rivals in a job of salesmanship now. Each seeks to persuade investigating senators and the nation that his own view is the right one.

Even MacArthur's critics conceded he did a magnificent selling job last week. But Marshall is the man who "sold" Congress the multi-million-dollar Marshall Plan, "sold" the legislators on a $2,000,000,000 blank check for developing the atom bomb.

Historians may well say "there were giants in those days."

Arms Embargo Against Red China Seen Assured

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 8—(AP)—Eventual United Nations approval of an arms embargo against Red China appeared assured today as a result of crumbling opposition in the world organization. Both Britain and France were reported to have dropped their previous objections.

The embargo, if voted by the U.N., presumably would be ignored by the Soviet bloc.

The United States late yesterday submitted a formal proposal for the embargo at a closed door meeting of the U.N.'s 12-nation sanctions committee. A vote is expected either late this week or on Monday.

Accident Victims In Good Condition

William Trafzer, 21, and his wife, Garnett Trafzer, 19, of 489 McKinley street, and Marvin Yates, 18, of Westerville, who were injured in a truck-auto collision at Routes 529 and 98 Saturday afternoon, are in "good" condition in Marion City Hospital today. Mr. Trafzer is a student at Ohio State University.

It was incorrectly reported in yesterday's Star that Charles Trafzer was the driver of the car involved in the collision. It was his son, William, who was the driver of the car and who was injured.

McGee

terday, about 25 persons picketing the White House carried signs saying 'Old soldiers never die—but lynch victims do" and "You fired MacArthur—Now fire Jim Crow."

While these efforts were going on, McGee, a slight 37-year-old grocery truck driver, was being held in the Hinds (Jackson) County jail.

One previous last day stay of execution arrived only four hours before he was scheduled to die for the rape of a Laurel housewife in her bedroom in November, 1945.

But about 6:30 p. m. authorities took McGee from the jail on the 90-mile trip to Laurel. Under Mississippi procedure, execution for a capital felony is carried out in the state's portable electric chair in the courtroom of the courthouse in the county where the felony occurred.

300 At Courthouse

There was no disorder when McGee arrived at Laurel at 10:05 p. m., but about 300 in the crowds that packed around the front of jail and courthouse pressed forward.

A state highway patrolman told the crowd that McGee was going to die and "Let's everybody be nice."

A cheer went up, and the unidentified patrolman added, "We want no demonstration." The crowds appeared more curious than anything else.

Then about 11 p. m., the husband, brother and two brothers-in-law of McGee's victim took seats in the courtroom four rows from the front to witness the execution.

A half-hour before McGee died, Rev. T. W. Patterson, a Laurel Negro Baptist preacher, entered his cell and read the 23rd Psalm and prayed with him. McGee smoked a cigar and wrote his will as his head was being shaved. He left his possessions to his mother here.

McGee made no statement as he was led to the chair at 12:05 a. m. He watched with apparent interest as attendants adjusted the straps of the chair set up on the dais. Dr. S. F. Carr pronounced him dead at 12:10 a. m. (CST).

When McGee's body was removed from the court house, a path had to be cleared through a pressing crowd of about 500 persons. As the hearse with McGee's body drove away, the crowd gave a loud cheer.

McGee was the ninety-first person to die in Mississippi's portable electric chair.

Thief Specializes In Auto Parts

Somebody stole the fan and water pump from a car parked on Quarry street over the weekend and police are wondering if the thief planned dismantling the car.

The car, a 1934 Ford coach owned by William Thacker of 160 North State street, was found with the parts missing when Mr. Thacker went to move his car at 3 p.m. yesterday.

Monday morning a total of 109 children were examined at three clinics.

At Mark Street School, 51 children were examined, at Oakland Heights, 38, and at Olney Avenue, 20.

A spokesman for the Health Department said persons living in one school district with children who are unable to visit their school clinic may have their children examined at another school.

Baxter

He broke into show business in 1910 in his native city of Columbus, O., when a dancer broke his ankle. He stayed in the theater thereafter except for brief excursions as a salesman.

In 1913 he joined a stock company in Tulsa, Okla.

Among his better known pictures were "Daddy Long Legs," "The Cisco Kid," "42nd Street," "Broadway Bill," "The Great Gatby," "Kidnapped," and "Under the Pampas Moon."

Long a favorite, his $284,000 income in 1936 was the industry's highest.

In recent years, he played "Dr. Ordway" in the "Crime Doctor" series but the movies soon became a sideline to real estate and other business interests.

He was married in 1911 to Viola Caldwell of Philadelphia but the marriage lasted only a short time, in January 1951 he and his second wife, former actress Winifred Bryson, observed their 33rd wedding anniversary.

She was with him when death came. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Jane Baxter.

Officers Elected By Martel W.S.C.S.

Election of officers for the new year was held when Mrs. Dora Coulter entertained members of the W.S.C.S. of the Martel Methodist Church Thursday at her home near Martel. Mrs. LaVerne Sharrock served as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Lola Huntsman was elected president, Mrs. Helen Stevens, vice president, Mrs. Sharrock, treasurer, Mrs. Doulter, secretary, Mrs. Paul Brodt, promotion secretary, Miss Ruby McBride, spiritual secretary, Mrs. Edna Loyer, local church activities chairman, and Mrs. Pearl Rice, missionary education secretary.

Eleven members responded to roll call and Mrs. Betty Lvon was a guest. Mrs. Huntsman presided for the meeting which was opened with a song by the group, with Miss McBride at the piano. Sewing was done on infants clothing to be sent to Korea and on rags for rugs. Several new rugs were placed on sale by Mrs. Helen Stevens and Mrs. Pearl Rice, members of the work committee. A missionary reading was given by Mrs. Huntsman, and a letter that clothing had been received in Korea was read. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Brodt, and short prayers, led by Miss McBride, were offered.

Plans were made for Miss McBride to represent the society at a W.S.C.S. Conference May 15-16 at Cambridge, O. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lydia Perry, with Mrs. Elva Somerlot as assistant hostess.

ROME, May 8—(AP)—An estimated 750,000 Italian government workers quit their jobs today in a 24-hour demonstration for more pay. Rome's post office was closed. The government owned telegraph system was crippled. One report said the strike in government offices here ranged from 60 percent effective in the ministry of foreign affairs to 95 percent in the ministry of defense.

Rep. Kee, 77, Dies Of Heart Attack

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—Rep. John Kee, 77-year-old chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee, died today of a heart attack.

He collapsed during a routine session of the committee and was pronounced dead by Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician.

Kee had been ill for some time and only recently returned from the nearby Bethesda Naval Hospital.

He had been a member of the House since 1933.

Parade

Forest Lawn and George Washington Schools, was chairman of the elementary division of the parade which included marching units from 11 schools.

All told the parade had 14 truck and tractor drawn floats. Theme of the parade was to show the crowded condition at Harding and the need for a new high school, the need for a cafeteria at Harding after it is converted to a junior high, and the need for a cafeteria at Edison and additional facilities at North State Street Junior High, all planned if the bond issue passes.

Motorcade

Throughout the parade was a motorcade carrying class officers, cheerleaders and student leaders.

The units formed on West Center street from Oak street west to the terminal building, marched east to State, south on State to Church, west on Church to their points of departure.

Students cooperated well in following the admonition of police and school authorities to return home after the parade was over, Police Chief Tom Coon reported.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce provided a sound truck to call attention to the parade before it started. The Retail Board of Managers cooperated by displaying Harding High School flags on the streets all day yesterday.

Truman

We could expect many atomic bombs to be dropped on American cities.

"And a single one of them could cause many more casualties than we have suffered in all the fighting in Korea.

"I do not want to be responsible for bringing that about."

Mr. Truman did not refer by name to MacArthur, who has advocated air action against Manchuria, a naval blockade and use of Nationalist troops on Formosa against the Chinese Reds.

Supporters of MacArthur — mostly Republicans—plainly were the targets of this assertion:

"We are right in the midst of a big debate on foreign policy. A lot of people are looking at this debate as if it were just a political fight. But the stakes are a lot more important than the outcome of an election. The thing that is at stake in this debate may be atomic war.

Not Political Issue

"Our foreign policy is not a political issue. It is a matter of life and death. It is a matter of the future of mankind."

For the United States to "go it alone" in Asia, he said, could wreck the whole free world security system, including the United Nations and the North Atlantic pact.

MacArthur, in his Senate testimony last week, called for an ultimatum to Red China—either to talk peace or suffer military action within her own borders. He said the United States should be willing to "go it alone" if the other United Nations held back.

"We cannot go it alone in Asia and go it in company, in Europe," Mr. Truman declared.

Work To Start On Route 746 Bridge

Work was expected to begin today or tomorrow on a new bridge on Route 746 in Claridon Township. E. L. Shelcy, division engineer of State Highway Department Division Six, announced a new structure would be placed over the Rogers Joint County Ditch.

A detour will be placed in use while the old structure is being removed and the new one is being placed, he added. The bridge will be located on Route 746 just south of State Route 95.

Study Tighter Credit Control

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—Chairman Maybank (D-SC) gave notice today that if the administration wants tougher controls over "big money" lending, it had better hustle its proposals up to his Senate banking committee.

The Federal Reserve Board has been weighing plans to boost the requirements for bank reserves, to freeze larger sums so they will not be available for commercial loans.

"Unless the recommendations come along now," Maybank told reporters, "there won't be anything done on credit at this session, in my judgment."

The banking committee opened hearings yesterday on extension and revision of the Defense Production Act, which expires June 30. The House banking committee opens hearings today on the same subject. Defense mobilizer Charles E. Wilson will be the first witness before the House group, as he was yesterday before the senators.

Marion Council Host For Area Event; J. M. Dunn Honored

A class of more than 20 candidates from Upper Sandusky, Delaware and Marion was initiated at a district meeting of Knights of Columbus councils here Saturday night and Sunday. The class honored Joseph M. Dunn of Marion, district deputy. The meeting closed with a banquet Sunday night in Moira Hall.

The first degree was conferred Saturday night in the council clubrooms in charge of the local degree staff. Sunday morning the members and candidates met at the clubrooms and marched in a body to St. Mary Catholic Church where they attended the 7:30 o'clock mass. Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., pastor, was the celebrant. He is chaplain of Marion Council and a past chaplain of the state council.

Work in the second and third degrees was conferred Sunday afternoon in the Eagles' hall, in charge of Marion Council degree staff, Jack Malloy of Findlay, state secretary and Vic Paul of Cuyahoga Falls, a past state deputy.

Floyd Cornely presided as toastmaster for the banquet. The members and guests were welcomed by Dennis J. Malloy, grand knight of Marion council. Jack Malloy brought greetings from the state council to Mr. Dunn and paid tribute to him not only for his work in the local and district councils but in state activities.

Tribute to Mr. Dunn also was paid by Rev. Father Spickerman for his work in the council and also in the parish. In speaking of the National council he commented on the work of the supreme council in promoting Columbianism throughout the world. In tracing the work of the organization he said that in addition to the work there is fellowship and entertainment to be found in the organization. Rev. Father Hugh Murphy, assistant pastor, paid tribute to Mr. Dunn for his work in the parish.

Asks Continual Service

In responding Mr. Dunn asked the candidates to continually strive for the betterment of the organization and urged them to be workers, not just members. He added that only through the efforts of the members the councils continue to grow.

Guests included Larry Rogers of Warren, state treasurer and wives and friends of the members. The dinner was served by the Daughters of Isabella.

Tuesday night will be observed as past grand knights night in Marion Council. Nelson Irvin will preside as grand knight and past officers will occupy the chairs.

Korean Policy Outlined

mands and the policy differences which led to it.

The caution against giving the Russians any reason to raise questions about operations near their border was touched on earlier in the hearings.

MacArthur, in the witness chair last week, complained he was never allowed to bomb a North Korean supply center because of its proximity to the Russian border.

This was the town of Rashin (Najin on some maps) in northeast Korea. Most of Korea borders on Manchuria, but an area in the northeast joins Russian Siberia.

Marshall said MacArthur was "cautioned against having units within, I think it was, about 15 miles of the border in northeast Korea where it touched the perimeter of Siberia, the Soviet government."

"The restrictions did not apply to operations by the Navy on the water along off the coast of Korea, but those were restricted, in other words, forbidden, in relation to the Manchurian coast, the China coast, and most specifically the northeastern tip of Korea in close proximity to the Soviet border."

Who Asked Restrictions

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the joint committee asked whether the restrictions originated with the Joint Chiefs of Staff or with the United Nations.

Marshall said the restrictions grew out of the views of the Chiefs of Staff and were discussed in the National Security Council.

He said those taking part in the discussions as members of the council were President Truman, Vice President Barkley, Secretary of State Acheson, W. Stuart Symington, then chairman of the National Security resources board and himself as Secretary of Defense.

"There was an intermingling there of political necessities along with military directions," Marshall said.

"There was an agreement that not only were these restrictions necessary in order to avoid a break with our allies and a complete confusion in our relations to the United Nations and specifically the Security Council (of the U.N.), but they also felt it would be necessary in regard to the retaliation that could be carried out by a heavy force if they developed on the Communist side."

The committees are holding all their hearings behind closed doors. A stenographic report of the testimony is given to news reporters but first goes through a military and a State Department censor for deletion of statement they believe might injure the national interests if made public.

Testimony Deleted

The censors deleted 12 lines from Russell's questions about the origin of the restrictions. They took out two and one-half lines of Marshall's reply.

MacArthur testified for three days last week. Marshall began the administration's reply yesterday. President Truman also pressed it in a public address last night, contending the present policy in Korea "is achieving the most for peace—at the least cost in American lives."

That contention, however, is the nub of the whole argument over Far Eastern policy. MacArthur disputes it. So do Congress members who back his position.

In his first day in the witness chair, Marshall replied to the main MacArthur arguments. Here are the chief points of dispute and the position each took in brief:

On fighting the war—

MacArthur—Blockade China, bomb Chinese Manchurian bases, and use Chinese Nationalist troops against the Communists. He said this would defeat China and end the "bloody stalemate" in Korea. He didn't believe Russia would actively enter the fighting and, if other United Nations were unwilling to follow his program, he believed the United States should "go it alone."

Marshall—He doubts the MacArthur program would in fact end the war and certainly it would spread it. And it would mean risking great hazards—an all-out war with Russia, a break up of the free world coalition, and "losing our Allies."

On MacArthur's dismissal—

MacArthur—He never failed to carry out directives from Washington and does not know why he was recalled from his command.

Questions Feasibility

Marshall—MacArthur conformed to military directives but made damaging public statements involving policy despite orders against such speaking out. One statement upset plans last March to try for a negotiated settlement of the war. MacArthur was so out of sympathy with settled Washington policy that there was nothing to do but relieve him of his commands.

During his hours before the senators, MacArthur repeatedly questioned that Russia had the capability of taking any decisive action in Asia. His main contention there was that the Trans-Siberian railroad was already heavily burdened and the Soviets would be unable to support a major Asiatic effort.

Marshall, under questioning from the senators, told them today that direct Russian intervention in the Korean war would be "a very serious matter."

He said Russia has a "considerable force" of military planes in the vicinity of Vladivostok, Dairen-Port Arthur and Harbin.

Marshall added:

"I don't know whether there are any plane concentrations in relation to Sakhalin, but there have been reports of troop concentrations and particularly Japanese prisoner, former prisoner, organizations, presumably of indoctrinated Japanese on the Sakhalin Point, which is not very far off northwest Hokkaido."

Hokkaido is the northernmost of the main Japanese islands. Sakhalin is a Russian-held island to the north.

Implied Attack

Marshall's reference to Soviet troops on Sakhalin carried a possible implication the Russians might be capable of invading Japan. But the questioning turned away from that without immediate development of the point.

MacArthur had declared he didn't believe the Russians could invade Japan so long as the U. S. held naval and air superiority. He said the Soviets, if they entered the war, could punish Japan from the air but predicted they would be unable to maintain heavy air operations for long because of lack of gasoline and supplies.

MacArthur's figures on Russian planes in the area were censored, but it was learned he estimated there were about 1,000 Soviet land planes, including the most modern types of jets, and from 200 to 300 naval planes.

Senator Russell asked Marshall about "the potential power of retaliation available to the Soviet in the Korean war."

"You are asking, as I understand it, the retaliation or the action of the Soviet military planes —," Marshall began.

"If the Soviet wanted to see fit to enter the Korean war," Russell supplied.

Marshall: "From the information estimates that I have seen, it would be a very serious matter, because they have, according to estimates that I have seen, a considerable force—I have forgotten exactly how many thousands in the vicinity of Vladivostok, Dairen-Port Arthur, Harbin."

Quizzed On Directives

The questioning turned then to various United Nations directives and resolutions on the Korean war. Marshall read a summary of them.

Marshall noted, too, that last Nov. 13 the State Department notified several United Nations member countries having forces in Korea that it might become necessary at an early date:

"To permit United Nations aircraft to defend themselves in the air-space over the Yalu river to the extent of permitting hot pursuit of attacking enemy aircraft up to two or three minutes flying time into Manchurian airspace . . ."

Marshall told the committees yesterday that the "hot pursuit" theory had to be dropped because of objections of other members of the United Nations.

In his testimony today, Marshall said several United Nations members registered "serious concern" that a program of "hot pursuit" in the air "might precipitate an extension of the hostilities."

As a result, Marshall added, the State Department advised those nations that this country "would contine to give other governments having forces in Korea information in advance to taking such decisions x x x."

Marshall said that subsequently, enemy air action in Korea "did not develop to such an extent that it was deemed necessary to take a decision with respect to hot pursuit."

At that point the censor deleted 90 words of Marshall's testimony.

Russell remarked he had questioned Marshall yesterday about a "foreseeable end" to the war under the administration's policies. He said much of what Marshall replied had been cut out by censors because it dealt with future plans.

Then Russell asked for a statement that could go in the record "as to whether or not you think that the methods now being employed in Korea, the operations being conducted under the limitations and restrictions that exist, can bring that war to a successful conclusion in the foreseeable future."

"Mr. Chairman," Marshall replied, "it is exceedingly hard to decide what may be said in answer to your question because it really amounts to disclosing a war plan.

"We have to do always all in our power not only to maintain but to build up the fighting morale of our forces. That is sometimes very difficult.

"During the last war it was difficult in certain areas. It is equally difficult here. They have made a magnificent response and I was told only this morning the last reports indicated a very high morale which is the most important factor, however you approach it, in bringing the operation to a successful conclusion.

"Now, translate this investigation to the soldiers in Korea, who are doing a very wonderful job, but under very difficult circumstances, and hearing and reading that no reinforcements are coming and that these casualties probably, possibly, are not being sacrificed to an advantageous result.

"Now that to me is the most important part of our security considerations."

Marshall said he had tried to be very frank.

"I have read from secret documents to you. I have tried to go right down to the nubbin of this thing, so far as I could, but I do think we have to question very carefully whether we advise the public at the expense of our army or not," he said, adding.

Richardson Opens Airport at Ashley

Special To The Star

ASHLEY, May 8—A new airport was placed in operation here last week by Russell Richardson. The landing strip is located at the rear of the Richardson home on South street at the edge of Ashley.

The airfield was opened April 29 and served as a celebration for Mr. Richardson's completion of flying lessons. He was awarded a pilot's license on April 6.

Construction of the new field was started in January, 1950, after Mr. Richardson purchased an airplane. A north-south runway is 1,950 feet long while the second strip is 1,600 feet in length. Eight hundred feet of the runways are within the corporate limits of Ashley.

Pilots from neighboring airfields flew in to help Mr Richardson in the opening. Groups flew in from the Delaware airport and from the Miller Airport south of Marion.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Abuse of Sedatives Can Lead to Disorders

One of the situations most commonly encountered by physicians today results from the abuse of the sedative drugs. Even the so-called relatively harmless bromides can bring about certain nervous and mental disorders when used to excess.

Bromides are often given to induce tranquility in the overly-nervous or excitable person. Unfortunately, many such people continue to use them far beyond the time anticipated by the physician and thus fall into the bromide habit and, eventually, into the condition known as bromism. That this statement is no exaggeration is shown by the fact that one out of every 20 persons committed to institutions for nervous disorders is suffering from this cause.

The chief symptoms of bromism are weakness and drowsiness, with the patient sometimes becoming stuporous. In some cases, however, the patient may be excited, his speech may be thick and slow or rapid and muttered. A test of the nervous reflexes may be helpful in making the diagnosis. Some of the reflexes may be exaggerated, and more rapid and stronger than normal. The symptoms may be extremely severe at the start; then improve, only to become worse again a few days later. However, with proper treatment a gradual recovery takes place.

Treatment consists in giving the largest doses of sodium or ammonium chloride that the patient can tolerate. In some cases, these preparations can be given satisfactorily by mouth. However, the sodium chloride may be given by injection into the blood in the form of a weak solution. In those patients who may be suffering from weakness of the heart, ammonium chloride is given in place of sodium chloride.

Drugs, such as the bromides, should be used only under the direction of the physician. He can advise what dosage of these preparations can be safely taken and how often the dose can be repeated.

Patients suffering from so-called nervousness should not get into the habit of using bromides day after day. The bromides, it is true, are useful drugs in the treatment of many nervous disorders, including some cases of epilepsy, but they can do more harm than good when improperly employed.

Questions and Answers

M. N.: I have shingles. Please advise what to do.

Answer: Shingles or herpes zoster is an inflammatory disease of the skin in which there are groups of blisters distributed along the course of one or more of the nerves in the skin.

Treatment consists in the use of a laxative at the beginning. Drafts should be avoided. Aureomycin has been found helpful in some cases. The use of certain drugs, such as the salicylates, sometimes hastens recovery. Antiseptic dusting powders, applied to the blisters and covered with a dressing, help. Paraffin applied in the same way it is used on burns also is helpful.

Claim Harris "Using Mirrors" With Senators

through the SPORTSCOPE with A.L. McCLAIN

NOW-SEE-HERE! If you see us wearing our old college sweater or heading in the general direction of the nearest dry cleaning establishment with an arm full of clothes within the next few days, don't jump to conclusion. We aren't going collegiate nor are we taking in laundry.

It's simply because we are trying to save wear and tear on our two suits and get them in shape for the next banquet.

Since the umpire reversed his decision on the calling of a pitch at Lincoln Park in a recent game, loyal Marsox followers have tracked us down alleys and cornered us on street corners to ask, "How can those (censored) umpires get away with that?"

The wear and tear on the lapels of No.1 and No. 2 suit has been terrific to say the least.

PROTEST DENIED. Now comes the report that Frank M. Colley, Ohio-Indiana League president, has turned down a protest lodged by the Marsox skipper, Elmer Yoter, on the given play

It will stand only as one of the weirdest decisions ever handed down by a professional umpire.

Just in case you missed the game, here is what happened the score was tied, 7-7, in the bottom half of the ninth between Marion and Richmond. With one man out, the Marsox had a runner on first and Bob Marciniec, pitcher, at bat.

PLATE UMPIRE Ted Groves called the first pitch a ball The second delivery was a strike. At this point Richmond skipper, Ralph DiLullo, rushed from the dugout to squawk on the calling of the first pitch, maintaining the batter had attempted to bunt the ball. Groves conferred with the base umpire, Tom Kennedy, and reversed his decision to make the count two strikes and no balls on the hitter.

The home club failed to put across a run in the inning when Marciniec swung away with two strikes on him and hit into a double play. Richmond won in the 12th, 10-9.

Yoter rightfully maintains had the original calling of the pitch stood, the batter would have had another opportunity to move the runner over to second on a bunt and into a scoring position.

BELOW CORNER LOT STANDARD. Personally, we feel the umpire did no credit to the caliber of play in the local league by his ruling. It is doubtful that even the youngsters on the corner lot would let an umpire get away with the delayed action of reversing a decision two plays later

We have questioned some of the oldest followers of baseball in Marion as they "hung on to our lapels" and none have heard of such a maneuver in their experience.

FIELD DAY. The ruling by Colley has left open plenty of "wood" for the coming winter hot stove league. Some are ludricous but still within limits of the loophole.

For example the count is two and two on the batter and the pitch in question is called a ball On the next pitch Marciniec has slugged a homerun to win the game.

The fans stand and cheer and prepare to go home. But wait, the umpires are conferring with the opposing manager. An announcement informs the fans the umpires have reversed their decision on the fifth pitch, calling it a third strike, and Marciniec is a goat instead of a hero. The game will now go into extra innings.

Ridiculous, of course, but with the existing loophole it is completely within the limits of the rule

TRAUTMAN'S OPINION. A telephone talk with George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, yesterday revealed that the play is not fully covered in the rule book. Trautman voiced the opinion that most league presidents rule that the complaint must be made before another pitch is delivered and this practice is generally followed by major league umpires.

Apparently what is accepted in the majors is not good enough for the O-I Loop and there are more steps up the ladder from the local loop to the big time than we had anticipated.

Nats Cut Indians' Late Rally Short

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even the most ardent Washington rooters are convinced Manager Bucky Harris is doing it with mirrors.

Any moment they expect to wake up and be told it isn't true—that the Senators' place among the American League's elite is a mirage.

No wonder these faithful capital rooters, who have had little to cheer for nearly 20 years find the present picture too good to be true. For isn't the much maligned Washington castoff crew yapping at the heels of the pace-setting New York Yankees?

Three weeks of the campaign have been disposed of and the Nats are atop of such highly regarded contenders as Boston, Cleveland and Detroit. Only the Yankees stand between them and the top rung. And the distance is not great—a mere game and a half.

Mainstays

Cuban righthanders Conrado Marrero and Sandalio Consuegra have shared the role of staff mainstays. Each has won three against no defeats.

Consuegra, for the first time this season, didn't have it last night However, his mates made up for this lapse by clubbing the Indians, 11-10.

Washington made 17 hits off five of six second-line Cleveland pitchers who worked in the weird game. The Indians banged out 13 hits against Consuegra and southpaw Mickey Harris, the winner. Eighteen hits and 17 runs were jammed into the fourth and fifth innings.

In the fourth the first eight Washington batters singled—five off southpaw Johnny Vander Meer and three off Gerald Fahr. A pop-up and a double play ended the rally there, two short of an American League record for singles in one inning.

The 36-year-old Vander Meer, a veteran of 10 seasons with the Cincinnati Reds, was charged with the loss in his first American League start. The Indians got the double-no-hit hero of 1938 during spring training when he was released unconditionally by the Chicago Cubs.

Two Homers

Larry Doby hit two homers for four of Cleveland's runs, and Allie Clark got a round-tripper in the ninth, right after Doby led off with his fifth homer of the season. Clark also had a double, and Dale Mitchell had two triples and a double. Thus seven of the Tribe's 13 hits were "long balls" for extra bases

In other games, Gene Bearden, recently sold by Washington to Detroit, was the star of the Tigers' 10-6 victory over the Yankees which snapped the New Yorkers' eight game winning streak.

Working in a relief role, the lefthanded knuckler set the Yanks back with five hits in seven innings to gain credit for his first victory. Bearden also starred at bat with a home run. It came in the eighth off Tom Ferrick and was followed by four baggers off the bats of Dick Kryhoski and Hoot Evers.

The loss, however, was charged to Fred Sanford, who had replaced starter Tommy Byrne and had given up the winning run in the sixth.

Willard Nixon was the whole works as the Boston Red Sox blanked the Browns 2-0, in a St Louis night game before a slim gathering of 2,495. The young righthander allowed only two hits and got half of Boston's four safeties off loser Ned Garver. One of Nixon's hits was his first major league home run

Moves Up

Brooklyn moved into third place, edging the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3, in the only game in the National League. It was played at night The Cards forced the game into overtime on a ninth-inning home run by Catcher Del Rice, then took a temporary 3-2 lead only to have the Dodgers bounce back with two runs in their half of the 10th. Despite the loss, the Redbirds retained their first place lead over Boston.

Preacher Roe, an ex-Redbird, went all the way to earn his fourth triumph without a setback. Gerry Staley was the loser.

Peanuts Lowrey, transplanted outfielder playing third base, was first the hero, then the goat for the Cards. It was his single that drove in the Cards' tie-breaking run in the top of the 10th. However, it was his double error of Carl Furillo's grounder that opened the gates for Brooklyn's tying and winning runs. Bruce Edwards' single drove in one run and Tommy Brown's long fly brought in the other.

Umpire No Pal Of Winded Reese After Yesterday

NEW YORK, May 8—(UP)—If Peewee Reese was a tired man today he could blame it all on Umpire Jocko Conlan.

He ran 720 feet last night, and all to no avail, because he didn't manage to score a run for his efforts.

In the third inning of Brooklyn's 4 to 3 triumph over the Cardinals, he singled, running 90 feet.

Then Duke Snider hit what appeared to be a triple down the right field line and Reese ran 270 more feet scoring what appeared to be a run until plate Umpire Jocko Conlan over-ruled first base Umpire Artie Gore and called the Snider smack a foul.

On Snider's next cut, he topped the ball and it bounded in front of the plate Reese streaked for second, and went on to third, as Catcher Del Rice threw the ball into center field before Conlan belatedly again ruled the ball was foul. That made another 180 feet

Finally, Snider singled legitimately and Reese got to third where he was stranded.

NICE GOING. Cliff Chambers (left) of the Pirates is congratulated by his teammates, after hurling a no-hitter, blanking the Boston Braves, 3 to 0, in Boston. The no-hitter came in the second game of a double-header. The left hander,whose record has never been outstanding, walked eight batters—but only one of them reached third base. He struck out four men in registering the first no-hitter since the Braves' Vern Bickford performed the rare deed last year.

Ask What Next? After Russians Join Olympics

VIENNA, May 8—(AP)—The Russians are in the Olympic games—what next?

The answer here at the annual meeting of the International Olympic Committee seemed today to be that nobody knows for sure.

"We will just have to wait and see," said one member of the committee.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, vice president of the I.O.C., seemed to express the general feeling when he pointed out that the Russian delegation which appeared here said it knew and agreed with the Olympic rules so there was no reason not to accept the new committee.

Brundage, one of the world's greatest supporters of pure amateurism in sports, had been a little worried about reports that the Russians gave money prizes to their athletes.

The Russians said those reports might have been true years ago but were not now.

Brundage said the Russians assured him they believed in the same amateur rules he supports.

The official Olympic report on the closed meeting at which the Russians were accepted pointed out strongly that the Olympic movement has no room for politics of any flavor.

Countries which join the Olympic committee agree to disregard entirely race, religion and politics The Russian committee signed a statement that it will support this creed.

Takes on Hairston Friday

Cartier Ready To Show Skeptics He Can Fight

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, May 8—(UP)—Handsome Walter Cartier stood grimly at the cross-roads of his boxing career today. Determined to disprove the long-time whispers that he was a heart-lacking hypochondriac unfit for a middleweight title shot

Cartier's test will be a tough one. Friday night at Madison Square Garden he faces the flailing fists of hard-punching Eugene (Silent) Hairston, a rocketing youngster with the same aim—a shot a Ray Robinson's crown. The bout will be televised.

This one, the underdog Cartier knows, he has to win For he has lost too many chances and, at 26, it's time to make or break.

Breathing promise into his hopes is the fact that for two and a half years he has been undefeated, winning 16 bouts in a row. That skein includes a victory over the now-favored Hairston in November 1949, when the latter still was learning the trade.

Withdrew

They were scheduled for a rematch one year later, in December, 1950, but Cartier became ill, collapsed while training and had to withdraw. It was the third time that illness or injury stopped him just before important bouts—and the whispers began.

Cartier is a boxer with a fine punch A high school graduate who is managed by his twin brother, Vincent an attorney, he is smarter than the average boxer. Walter sees no reason to press in for a knockout, thus taking the inevitable rain of punches, when he can box his way to victory.

So the fight mob talked. It was said, in a rising crescendo, that Cartier lacked moxie It's a much harsher word in the boxing racket They all called him a "hypo" for his withdrawals because of illness and injury. He needed, they insisted, a psychologist

These whispers, which ultimately came home, stung the pride of the Irishman with the French name. They may not affect the overall strategy of the graceful picture puncher but he chalked up a victory over Hairston as a "must."

"This one I've got to win," he asserted "I've been married about a year now and I've got to get somewhere."

Served in Navy

His record is a good one. Cartier became interested in boxing while working at an aircraft factory after graduating from high school. He turned pro after serving in the Navy.

"I received $12 for my first fight," he recalled "for the second I was paid $15."

Since that time, in the summer of 1946, Cartier has had 39 fights, winning 36—20 by knockouts In his current victory streak of 16, half have been won by battering his opponent into limbo

But Cartier isn't satisfied Despite that string of triumphs, the whispers have continued.

"And I'm going to show them, he promised, "that I've got all the heart, courage or whatever you want ot call it, that a man needs to make good in the ring."

This is the spot, Cartier knows it With such an incentive, it bids fair to be quite a brawl—and the prize to the winner could be a lucrative date for a crack at the title.

LIONS BUY END

DETROIT May 8 —(UP)—The Detroit Lions today announced the purchase of defensive end, Leo Skladany, from the New York Giants for an undisclosed sum. The 210-pound former University of Pittsburgh star broke into pro football two years ago with the Philadelphia Eagles. Two years ago, he blocked a punt and scored a touchdown in Philadelphia's 14 to 0 playoff victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

BARNEY TO MINORS

BROOKLYN, May 8 — (AP) — Rex Barney, who rocketed to the big leagues as a 19-year-old wonder in 1943, is on his way back to the minors today. The likeable 26-year-old flame thrower from Omaha was optioned by the Brooklyn Dodgers to their Fort Worth Texas League farm after waivers were obtained from the other 15 clubs.

Golfer Likes New Unorthodox Grip

BIRKDALE, ENGLAND, May 8 (AP)—Frank Stranahan seems to be doing all right with his unorthodox interlocking grip.

The amateur from Toledo, O., shot a 68 and a 73 to take rounds over the Birkdale course, where Bobby Locke and U. S. amateur champion Billy Joe Patton are expected to be the top threat for the Walker Cup team in the tournament in April.

Harold Paddock Jr. of Cleveland, O., had a 74 despite the fact he was using the wrong ball. Paddock was using a Slazenger ball instead of the Dunlop 65 he is accustomed to playing. Paddock now is the only amateur left in the Walker Cup assignments. Paddock will play Saturday and fly home May 28.

New School Planned At Green Camp

Elementary Building Proposed; Bond Issue Due in Fall

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP, May 8—Voters of the Green Camp School district will be asked to vote on a bond issue in the November election for a new six or eight room grade school building.

This was decided at a meeting held at Green Camp School last night. The meeting was sponsored by the P.-T.A. and the Board of Education.

No estimate was made of the cost of the building or when construction could begin. The meeting, which was attended by about 80 persons, was called to announce the proposed building and find what the reaction of Green Camp voters would be.

Several persons in the audience asked if it would be possible for the village to build a high school. It was announced that a high school had been discussed with officials of the State Department of Education, but that at least 200 students would have to be available before a high school could be built. The plan for a Green Camp grade school is backed by the State Department of Education, it was announced.

The new building will have either six or eight rooms, a cafeteria and an auditorium-gymnasium. The board of education announced it will proceed with plans for the grade school and put the issue on the ballot in the November election.

The meeting was opened by John Mills, president of the P.-T.A. and the discussion led by Milton Ruth, president of the board of education.

Don Bloch of Denver, Colo., has the largest collection of books by and about the American author Edgar Saltus in the country. Bloch recently edited "Brand Book," a collection of essays on the west, its history, places and people, written by "members and guests of the Denver, Posse of the Westerners."

DRIVER ARRESTED

Fred Battisti, 50, of Youngstown was arrested yesterday on Route 42 just north of Mt. Gilead and charged with passing over a yellow line in his traffic lane, the state highway patrol reported. Arraigned before Mayor R. R. Bennington at Mt. Gilead he pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

As we understand it, MacArthur didn't think the Reds would come into the war a month before they did and Truman didn't think there would be a war two weeks before there was.

This entitles both boys to join the experts who pick Kentucky Derby winner who finish fourth.

And now that we have established that prophecy is an inexact science, perhaps we could get on with the perpetual police action and some plan for winning it.

One big bold plan has already been advanced . . . we have asked the United Nations to please not ship too many war materials to Red China. We suspect they are being used for war purposes.

The UN is considering it and an embargo may be placed against Red China if it doesn't interfere too much with our Allies export business.

Of course, if Red China objects to this sort of treatment, the whole thing may have to be dropped . . . we are not supposed to offend them while fighting them.

Apprehend 2nd Galion Forger

Special to The Star

GALION—The second arrest involving forgery of Perfection Steel Body Company payroll checks was made here Friday night by Captain George Cook.

Police reported that Guy Morgan, 25, of Galion, forged the name of Lloyd Pratt on a check for $88.17. Morgan presented himself on pay day and asked for Pratt's pay check. A guard, who did not know Pratt or Morgan, gave Morgan the check, police said.

Earlier in the week, Capt Cook apprehended another forgery suspect. He is Francis Nelson, 27, of Galion, who was bound over to the Crawford County grand jury under $1,000 bond on a forgery charge by Mayor Jay F. Nichols. Nelson was charged with forging a Perfection Steel Body Company payroll check which he allegedly obtained from a payroll hook at the plant.

Tribute To People

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

THERE has been a lot of loose talk for centuries to the effect that man's best friend is (1) the dog and/or the horse.

But when the squeeze is on and the chips are down, man's best friend is people just plain ordinary everyday people. And I would like to present some evidence because, generally speaking, people have been taking an awful beating of late.

People have kind of hit bottom recently. Public opinion has been more or less against them, with no one willing to say a good word for the next fellow and everyone trying to hang one on his neighbor.

Inez Robb

The air is full of man's inhumanity and iniquities to man. These are the times that try men's souls and snapping, snarling and back-biting are the order of the day. Man is preoccupied with war, ax murders, public larceny, organized crime, political malfeasance and the general cussedness of his kind.

ALL IN ALL, people seemed at their lowest ebb, and it didn't surprise me to find more and more individuals buying a framed copy of that old curmudgeon cartooned by the New Yorker and captioned "people are no damn good." I was saving money to buy a copy myself until six weeks ago.

Yet in that six weeks period, my family and I have been the recipients of so much plain, unadorned kindness from people, the vast majority of them strangers that I would like to write a little testimony to people while there is yet time.

Six weeks ago, my mother was injured in an auto accident near Woodland, Cal. The moment the word arrived, there began for my brother in Fort Myers, Va., my sister in Tulsa and myself in New York the desperate race for air reservations west on the crowded Easter weekend.

BUT JUST PLAIN people began being wonderful. People got the tickets for us and people dispatched us on the fastest planes. And people met us in San Francisco to drive us to Woodland where other people had taken mother to the extraordinary Woodland Clinic Hospital, known as the Little Mayo of the West.

There, in a strange town where none of us knew a soul, people made us welcome and tried to make us comfortable.

People at the hospital, whether doctors or nurses or Julia, who scrubbed the floors, surrounded my mother and her children with warmth, sympathy and the deep kindness that sometimes works the miracle where medicine and great professional skill cannot.

AND FINALLY, when the doctors said that mother could be moved east near one of her children, we were overwhelmed with the greatest kindness of all. For our mother will never again be able to sit up or walk, and the problem of transportation for an old lady so gravely injured boiled down to a sleeper plane, the doctors decided.

But there are no sleeper planes from Sacramento or San Francisco to Tulsa, where our mother can receive the care she needs in the great Catholic hospital there, St. John's. We simply did not know what to do. We could not leave our mother alone and yet there seemed no possible means to take her with us.

AND THEN PEOPLE went into action. People we scarcely knew, but who had heard of mother's plight and our dilemma, came to our rescue. People found some other people, whom we do not know and have never seen, who loaned us a private airplane, equipped with a couch, to take mother to Tulsa.

It was the miracle we had prayed for. God heard our prayers, but it was His people who made the miracle possible. As long as we live, we shall never cease being grateful to people, all kinds of people, mostly strangers, who turned themselves inside out to be helpful when we could not help ourselves.

People—I don't know what we would have done without them in the past six weeks!

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

ONLY ONCE did life seep through the sallowness of Robert Vogeler's face, dyed by the darkness of solitary confinement in a Soviet dungeon cell. Only once did his hands stop twitching and the pulsating of the heavy vein on the left side of his neck ease off. He smiled, as we tried to ask forbidden questions, and slowly reached for these words.

'One thing you may be sure of. It will be a long time before I leave this country again.'

Soon we lost him again to his bedroom and sedatives. But even there he could not talk of his experiences — not even to his intimates. Slowly, in the two hours earlier, he did tell them of the four books he had been given to read and reread incessantly. Grimly, Vogeler told his friends of his gut-grasping urge to hear a human voice. He began to talk aloud to himself. But shame, he said, struck him for somebody, even the MVD guards, might hear him. So he stopped his own voice for fear they might believe him mad. Then silence crowded the blackness in the small cell.

Victor Riesel

AS I WATCHED his torture-burdened face, I though of the face of another American in another Soviet satellite cell held by this political mob as our old gangs would snatch an innocent business man—for ransom. I though of a fellow newspaperman, Bill Oatis, head of the AP bureau in Czechia, seized by MVD goons as he returned from work. Seized and jailed for 'spying' and insulting' what passes for the Czech Republic, and may the spirits of Benes and the older Masaryk forgive me my expression.

And I thought, also, of two gents by names of Ivan Aleksandrovich Fillipov and Grigori Illarionovich Rassadin. They insult us every day. They feed the Moscow press and world-wide radio regularly with "exposes" of our defense plans. They mock our decencies.

Yet Comrades Rassadin and Fillipov are not in prison cells. They are free to roam this country—and they do so at the request of the Soviet government—as representatives of the Moscow newspaper Pravda. That's the organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, secretary of which is Joe Stalin himself. So they're Joe's personal boys.

THEY HAVE BEEN interfering in the American labor movement. Right now, C.I.O. national secretary Jim Carey, who also leads the International Union of Electrical Workers, now crusading across country to clean Communists out of our atomic and electronic plants is preparing a strong attack on Rassadin and Fillipov.

Carey's union plans to distribute these leaflets of protest in every electronic production center, for the Pravda team has been openly boasting of its aid to the notoriously pro-Soviet United Electrical Workers, ousted from C.I.O. for its political line. The C.I.O. leaders are sharply angered by radio scripts Rassadin and Fillipov have been shooting on to Moscow, describing Harry Bridges' politicalized longshoremen's outfit (now deep in a series of political strike maneuvers bolstering Communist-line propaganda), Communist Ben Gold's Fur workers, and the U.E. as "progressive trade unions (who) oppose the American military intervention in Korea . . . and (oppose) the militarization of the U. S.'

THE C.I.O. LEADERS know that Uncle Joe's pals from Pravda are simply doing an old-fashioned press and radio public relations job for the Commie-combine unions throughout Europe. There, word is being spread that these unions speak for American labor. And in a few weeks, this political-crime syndicate will dispatch a delegation to France, Poland, Sweden and "other countries," probably Russia, to tell the continental proletariat what military baby-eating swine we are.

At the same time, A.F.L. leaders are furious because Rassadin and Fillipov are hurting the pay envelopes of American movie studio workers by telling Europe that we're not producing pictures for handholders in the balcony, but to aid "American plans for world domination." You'd think John Wayne never kisses a babe in any film, but devotes himself only to caressing jets. Hollywood now plays a "criminal role debasing Americans on War Department orders," said a recent Rassadin and Fillipov dispatch. And just last week they had the gall to go into Hollywood and seek freedom to roam the studios. They got a loud Nyet.

And the State Department tells me it "is aware of the nature of the information which these correspondents transmit to the Soviet Union." But here we have freedom of the press. So the Pravda boys are free to injure us, insult us, and work against us from the inside.

But Bill Oatis of the AP is jailed in Soviet-land and Vogeler's mind can't yet believe his body is free.

Power Shovel Foremen Elect C. E. Midlam

Succeeds Koeppen As President; Club Trip Planned

Clifford E. Midlam, supervisor in the production control department of the Marion Power Shovel Co., was elected president of the Shovel Foremen's Club at a meeting Saturday night in the Marion clubroom of Hotel Harding.

Other officers elected are Willard S. Nagel, foreman in assembly department, vice president; Harold E. Everly, of the machine shop, recording secretary; Richard D. Myers, payroll supervisor in the treasury department, treasurer; Ralph Augenstein, assistant general foreman, Dana Barber, purchasing agent, steel division, and Don Harrold, supervisor of stores, members at large of the executive committee.

Mr. Midlam succeeds Edward G. Koeppen as president.

Date of the summer weekend vacation trip to be taken by the M.P.S. Foremen's Club in August was tentatively set for Friday, Aug. 24, through Sunday, Aug. 26.

May Tour Salt Mines

A trip through the salt mines which underlie much of the main part of Detroit is being considered as one of the features of the trip. Several Marion company shovels are used in the Detroit salt mines.

Richard D. Myers, entertaining chairman, introduced a vocal group from Harding High School, members of a sextet, who gave several interesting numbers. Members of the sextet are Gary Snouffer, Tom Indoe, Lowell Jones, John Goff, Loren Heiser and Dean Ludwig.

The Shovel foremen witnessed two motion pictures, arranged as a part of the program by H. H. Douthitt, Marion Power Shovel Co. director of industrial relations. They were "And Then There Were Four," from the Socony-Vacuum Co. library, a safety film, narrated by James Stewart, and "The House That Faith Built," depicting the founding and growth of the Anheuser-Busch Co. Projection was by Garold Armbruster of the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Power Shovel Movie

A third motion picture film was presented. It was a new release by the Marion Power Shovel sales department, entitled "Marion and You," and depicted action pictures of Marion Power Shovel machines in the field engaged in many phases of the metal mining industry.

Preceding the program, the Marion Power Shovel foremen were treated to a specially prepared Dutch lunch, served at 6.30 o'clock.

LOST 62 LBS. WITH RENNEL

Results Please Lima Lady

"Before taking Rennel I was gaining weight steadily," writes Mrs. Gladys Stroud, 116½ N. West St., Lima, Ohio. "I could hardly get my family meals or walk to the corner grocery store. Since I have been taking Rennel I have lost 62 lbs., and I am still losing weight. I feel much better, can do my work again and no longer feel all tired out. I certainly recommend Rennel to anyone who is overweight."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Rennel at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennel.

Withheld for Security Reasons

IN THE testimony of Generals Marshall and Bradley, the answer to one question undoubtedly will be withheld for security reasons.

Is the United States prepared to meet all its current military commitments plus the possibility of an even larger war in Asia?

It may be expected that some one among their congressional questioners will seek an expert estimate of this matter sooner or later. It is the key to the strategy proposed by Gen. MacArthur.

Though he doubts that the Soviet Union would come openly into the war if the United States increased its efforts to defeat Red China, the doubt exists.

The Administration alone has enough knowledge of mobilization to know whether the United States can meet its current commitments plus a larger war in Asia.

It is true, as Gen. MacArthur has pointed out, that the Soviet Union cannot be appeased and will come into the war when it feels like it. But it also may be true that the Truman Administration has reason not to want to make the Kremlin feel like coming into the war. It may be true that its military advisers and its advisers on mobilization are leading from weakness by necessity, not from choice.

That is one thing which is not going to be revealed. But behind the closed doors of the hearings, it may be the turning point for judgment.

Reopened to Question

WITHIN the next few weeks, congressional committees are going to reach an answer to this question:

Is it possible to enforce price and wage controls?

If the answer is no, the controls attempted under the defense production act will be abandoned. That is not likely to happen, however.

It is more likely that Congress will end up by doing what it did when it enacted this law in the first place. It will go through the motions of doing something which many congressmen believe to be impossible.

They see no hope of enforcing wage controls, for example, because the labor union minority is dead set against them. They see no hope of enforcing price controls because the machinery required would be so cumbersome it could not be set up for many months and, even then, would not work.

In World War II, stabilization was achieved after a fashion because a great many people believed in the principle. That is no longer true. A great many people may still believe in stabilization for the other fellow, but no one believes in it for himself.

Why, then, does Congress go through the motions of trying to do something which cannot be done? The answer is obvious because Congress is absolutely aware of the politics involved in the stabilization issue.

Consumers want to think prices will be rolled back. Employees want to think wages will be stabilized. Employers want to think profits will be controlled. It is good politics to go through the motions of legislation but as Congress [illegible] the defense production act [illegible] the stabilizing authority, it is bad economics and bad government.

The Cult of Stimson

By George E. Sokolsky

HENRY L. STIMSON, Republican lawyer, had been a protege of Elihu Root. He had served as secretary of war in the cabinet of President Taft and had been governor-general of the Philippines. At the recommendation of Elihu Root, Herbert Hoover appointed him secertary of state in 1929.

In 1940, Franklin D. Roosevelt entered upon negotiations with Alf Landon, Republican candidate for president in 1936, for Landon to join the cabinet. Landon would not join the Roosevelt administration unless he received a public and irrevocable promise from Roosevelt that he would not run for a third term. This Roosevelt would not do.

SOKOLSKY

In time, he appointed Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, and Frank Knox, secretary of navy.

Although estimable men, neither Stimson nor Knox was of sufficient importance, from a political standpoint, to achieve a unification of both parties in the third term. A cult is rising to give to Stimson the aura of superiority, with the object of attacking the stature of Herbert Hoover.

THE MOST RECENT attempt in this effort is by Sarah Wambaugh, formerly of the League of Nations secretariat, who worte an article, "War and Mr. Hoover," published in The Christian Science Monitor. The object of this article is to show:

". . . The truth is that through (Hoover's) four years in office, from 1929 to 1933, there was not one of our foreign policies that did not contribute seriously to the growing international tension which so shortly culminated in World War II."

And to establish the weakness of Mr. Hoover, Miss Wambaugh seeks to show that Henry L. Stimson sought to intervene in the Manchurian incident, which paved the way for World War II, and that Mr. Hoover did not let him do it. Miss Wambaugh says:

"Mr. Hoover deserves great credit for having been so early in detecting some measure of what the Soviets were up to, but he did not foresee what the Japanese were up to, or Hiter and his Nazis, or the full extent of Stalin's plans for conquest. Mr. Hoover is a master at relieving famine after war has started. But the record shows that he lacks wisdom as to how to discourage an aggressor from starting war."

THE FACTS ARE: Mr. Hoover did not refuse to consider collective sanctions to stop Japan. As a matter of fact, he considered the question very seriously. But he made the point that the League of Nations had a specific responsiblity under the convenant and that the United States would join with the others, but would not go it alone.

To avoid any confusion, Mr. Hoover instituted a private inquiry as to what the British would do if the United States decided to impose economic sanctions, and if war resulted, would Great Britain join the United States in such a war? Britain said, "No."

In a word, the British were willing for us to make war on Japan in 1931 alone.

Lord Robert Cecil was agitating for economic sanctions at the League of Nations. On Oct. 14, 1931, he received absolute instructions from Lord Reading, then foreign minister, to stop all his agitation.

IT IS PRECISELY the same attitude that the British are now taking in China that causes them to display such anger at General Douglas MacArthur.

HERBERT HOOVER picked up a doctrine which originated with William Jennings Bryan, the doctrine of non-recognition. This came to be known variously as the Hoover-Stimson doctrine or the Stimson doctrine. In a letter to Senator Borah, Stimson said:

"On January 7th last, upon the instruction of the president, this government formally notified Japan and China that it would not recognize any situation, treaty, or agreement entered into by those governments in violations of the covenants of (the Washington treaties), which affected the rights of our government or its citizens in China. If a similar decision should be reached and a similar position taken by the other governments of the world, a caveat will be placed upon such action which, we believe, will effectively bar the legality hereafter of any title or right sought to be obtained by pressure or treaty violation, and which, as has been shown by history in the past, will eventually lead to the restoration to China of rights and titles of which she may have been deprived."

The British objected even to this.

And the sum total of this episode is that no sanctions were applied until the verge of World War II.

By TRUMAN TWILL

DEAR NEPHEW: I have been getting out all my summer equipment. The rocking chair I keep around for my personal use for porch and lawn . . . stuff of that nature.

Sparks flew when it developed that your admirable aunt had exceeded her authority by throwing away my favorite lattice-work slippers which I wore for walking in the wet grass during the mornings and evenings. Her offer to buy me something just as good and much more presentable finally was accepted, but not cheerfully.

This may be the last season for my hammock. I will not hitch it very high this year, because it may let me down suddenly. But it has been made ready for use, all except tying it to the two peach trees.

My folding drinking cup, canvas leggings, sun glasses, collapsible frying pan, road maps, compass, fishing poles of various descriptions, assorted tackle for the fishing poles, sunburn lotion, snake bite serum, knapsack, water bottle and everything of that nature are unpacked and ready to go into action.

I am waiting for a perfect day. When it happens, I will move my rocker under a tree and think about an ideal place to pitch my pup tent. Then I will plan an expedition into the unknown, perhaps an overnight expedition. I may even take along your Aunt Effie.

This will take considerable time, all this planning. Meanwhile, I will rock back and forth in my chair, with a few trips to the kitchen for something to sustain life. I will make a list of the places I want to go and what I want to take along to eat.

I will make lists of people I want to call on and things I want especially to look out for, such as whether or not there are as many pheasant and quail as there should be.

As I say, this will take time. Before long it will be sundown, too late to start anything. The whole thing will have to be done over again the next day. You see how it works—you take some of the loveliest trips imaginable without ever leaving your own place. But there always is the possibility you might leave, which is why a fellow needs to have his equipment handy and in good order. Back in the days when most possibilities became probabilities I used to rush off with almost nothing that I needed, though I confess I always had everything I wanted.

I expect your boys are counting the minutes until school is out again, and I would be counting, too. My annual visit to school this year came on a bad day. I did not envy the boys and girls. It seemed to me that they and the teachers were both fed up with education. Regards to all.

Elisha Crosby started the first dry goods store in Marion. It was situated at the corner of Main and South streets (South is now Church street) which locality at one time became the business center of the town. William and James Holmes had a small stock of goods in a cabin. John and Ebenezer Ballantine had a small store about two miles north of town. In 1828 and afterward there were general stores under the firm names of John E. Davidson & Co., and R. Lamb and Co. In the latter company were Caleb Howard and Richard Patten.

Let the Light Go Deep

What Is The American Destiny?

By Water Lippmann

THIS must surely be the first time in all human experience that a people has conducted a council of war in the presence of its actual and possible enemies.

The hearings, to be sure, are not open to television and the transcript of the testimony is being subjected to a certain amount of censorship. But what is being censored must be of little interest, let us say to Moscow and to Peiping, as compared with what is being brought out.

The censor is deleting certain military facts and estimates which, assuming that they are not known, would enable our adversaries to measure more accurately the efficiency of our intelligence services and of their own. The censor is not deleting the conflicting war plans and conflicting political ideals over which this country, and even its professional military leaders, are so bitterly divided.

LIPPMANN

Whatever the outcome of this public council of war—this superpublicity, this unique case of open strategy openly arrived at—Moscow and Peiping will know it as soon as we do.

THEY KNOW WHAT Gen. MacArthur and the Republicans would do if they could get the better of President Truman and the Democrats. They have weeks, perhaps months, to work out their reply in case the MacArthur policy wins out.

They know also, more or less accurately, what President Truman intends not to do, if he can rebut the MacArthur party. They can choose to make it hard or easy for the Truman policy; they can play the war to get whatever result they think is desirable, to entangle us more or to entangle us less, knowing at all times as much about our intentions as we know ourselves.

The controversy itself covers a lot of ground and turns on a series of great issues. Some of them are deep and far-reaching. When the general was speaking it seemed at times that there was at issue the very conception of the American destiny.

Is the American destiny now an imperial destiny? Or is it the American destiny to be the protector and the promoter of the Atlantic community and of the western civilization which is at home within it?

AT THE BOTTOM of the whole controversy, which did not begin this year, or last year, but has smouldered on since long before the world war, there is a profound conflict of view about what is the American destiny.

This conflict is older than MacArthur and Marshall and Truman, not to speak of Taft and Knowland and Wherry. It goes back at least as far as the Spanish-American War and the conquest of the Philippines. It is not going to be settled soon, and we shall be arguing it for a long time to come.

As we argue it we should realize that it is a great, indeed a noble, controversy.

It turns upon whether, like all our predecessors in the days when they rose to power, we must become, and wish to become, the masters of an empire which we rule for our glory and for its benefit—or whether we wish to be the first servants of a community of free nations, all of them, the big and the small alike, the heirs with us and the custodians with us of the western civilization which originated in the Mediterranean and has expanded about the Atlantic Ocean.

BUT THOUGH this controversy—the truly great and enduring American debate—cannot be settled and concluded in these hearings, or in the next election, it is, I believe, the necessary context for understanding MacArthur's views and the opposition to them.

The incalculable risks—incalculable by his own admission—which MacArthur wishes to accept by making war on China are simply incomprehensible if nothing more is at stake than to bring about a cease-fire in Korea and the withdrawal from Korea of the Chinese—and presumably also the American armies.

The risks that MacArthur wishes to take become comprehensible only in the context of the general's vision—his vision of the Pacific Ocean as an American lake and of Japan as lying within the sphere of American power and of China, with Chiang restored, as brought within the American sphere of influence.

THE GENERAL'S proposal to risk a third world war in order to end the war in Korea sounds, when one first hears it, like a case of wishing to burn down the barn to roast the pig. The risks are fantastically greater than any advantage that could be got out of taking them.

But his proposals take on a different look if we recognize that his objective is American paramountcy in the Far East — in Japan, Korea and China.

That would be, that has often been, the kind of objective, worth a world war, which empire builders have worked for.

But there will be many of us, most of us I truly believe, who think the prospect of such an empire a dreary one, likely to destroy not only American freedom, as we have known it, but also the desire to use power generously, which is so very American.

Congress Quiz

Q—How many lobbies and lobbyists are active in Washington?

A—For the year 1950, approximately 300 organizations filed reports as lobbies, and agents filing personal reports listed nearly 800 more. The total number of agents reporting—this includes individuals and law or public relations firms acting as agents—was approximately 1,000.

Q—How much do lobbies spend a year?

A—The approximately 300 groups reporting said they spent $10,303,204 during 1950. Of this $8,374,143 was reported as spent for legislative interests. The rest was for all purposes, including legislative, and was not broken down.

Q—Is lobby spending increasing?

A—Yes, judging from reports filed under the lobbying act. Total reported spending has increased yearly since the act went into effect in 1946. Previous totals: $10,303,204 in 1950; $7,969,710 in 1949; $66,191,898 in 1948, and $5,053,357 in 1947.

By H. I. Phillips

Farewell to Cooking Programs

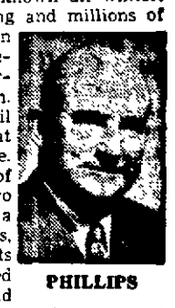
LONG-MISSING saloon patrons are back. Taverns are getting a trade that disappeared last October. In many homes where there is a male around the house, the living room is again getting a rumpling it hasn't known all winter. Baseball is back in full swing and millions of evening listeners are back on the afternoon hitch. The immediate proof is the disappearance between 1 and 4:30 p.m. of numerous October-to-April entertainers aimed mostly at the women's and misses' trade. On our video, the drone of "Then add the whites of two eggs" has given way to a sturdy "Sock it into the stands, Joe!" We get a dozen shouts of "What a catch! . . . It saved a coupla runs" to one "And now let's see the right way to make a halibut patty for four people. First you take two cups of flour. . . ."



PHILLIPS

Uncle Phidias, who is retired and hangs around the house a lot, says the casualties among the cooking-recipe programs has been terrific. Sempro panels and winter-league comics have been hard hit, too. "I got so used to cooking programs," says Phidias, "that when I turned in and saw a guy streaking around the bases, my first thought was that it must be Lydia Potzanpans in male disguise on a rush trip for two drops of vanilla and a jigger of cream.

"No kidding, when I saw a male with a ball bat on my screen in midafternoon instead of a female with a frying pan, an egg-beater, a bowl of chopped nuts and some parsnips, I was flabbergasted. Even now in the third week of baseball it's hard to get used to things. Only yesterday afternoon I tuned into a cooking program by Arabella Somebody. She was standing there looking at a table full of cutlets, bread crumbs, parsley and tea biscuits as if she didn't know just what to do. I yelled for her to try a hook slide into second base.

Cafes report new gusto in the afternoon hours. They have been pretty dull all winter, as few saloon patrons nuzzling a beer want to know how to bake a fruitcake or prepare cauliflower. But with the first cry of "Play ball!" the fans have come galloping back to saloon and tavern for a long telecast and a short beer. Saloons are now audible a block away all afternoon.

Taxicabs have been fairly quiet all winter except for the period when every driver was curious to hear by radio whether Costello would bunt or take a full swing and whether Erickson had lost his speed on the bases. But with the debut of baseball they have the sets wide open in full summer form. Small cabs are reported around, but all the ones we have seen have been the big ones with room for four passengers and three ball games.

It is in the home, however, where the big switch in afternoon radio and video programs is most marked. If the wife isn't a ball fan she is in a bad way just now. If she wants to know how to make apple fritters a la Waldorf she has to depend on the cookbook or memory. No use expecting anything from Joe DiMaggio, Peewee Reese, Mickey Mantle or any of that crowd.

Supports Loyalty Program in Tie Vote

Supreme Court Upholds Firing 26 Gov't Workers

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—In another 4-4 tie, the Supreme Court yesterday upheld the government's right to dismiss 26 Post Office Department employes under the federal loyalty program.

The 26 questioned constitutionality of the program. They first filed their complaint in the U S District Court here, but that tribunal dismissed it. Today's tie vote, which brought no formal opinion, affirmed the dismissal. Justice Clark took no part in the case. The vote of the other justices was not announced.

The 26 workers said they had received written notices of proposed dismissal because the Post-office Department loyalty board found reasonable grounds for believing they were disloyal. The workers are employed in the Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia and Plainfield, N J., postoffices.

The Supreme Court last Monday also split by a 4-4 vote the dismissal of Miss Dorothy Bailey from her subordinate job in the U S Employment Service here.

Other Decisions

In other actions today, the high tribunal:

1. Held that companies carrying their own oil in their own pipelines are not subject to government rate regulation, but can be compelled to file reports.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, which tried to force the Champlin Refining Co of Enid, Okla., to file its pipeline rate schedules, had said an exemption like the one granted today "might exclude from regulation a large segment of this oil industry."

2. Ruled 6-3 that an alien sentenced twice for bootlegging may be deported on grounds of moral turpitude. The decision applies specifically to Sam De George, who came to this country from Italy in 1921, and now is half owner of a restaurant in Harvey, Ill.

3. Dismissed, 5-4, an appeal by the Montana-Dakota Utilities Co to collect $779,958 from the Northwestern Public Service Co for asserted overcharges. The majority said the case involved issues over which a federal court has no jurisdiction.

4. Held 8-1 that the Agriculture Department properly dropped two ex-G.I.s in a cutback resulting from lack of funds and did not have to rehire them ahead of non-veterans. But the tribunal told a lower court here to find out whether the two, both attorneys, had asked that their names be placed on a re-hiring list. Unless they can show they made such a request they have no job claims under the Veterans Preference Act, the court decided.

THE BURNS AND Allen show consists of small bits of business [illegible] them is old as vaudeville which is not necessarily a bad thing. The fragmentary series Mr. Burns front door his living room his next door neighbors front door and living room make no pretense at reality but seem to serve the purpose very well. I still hope that too many of these forms don't creep into television although it must be admitted that the Burns and Allen show is a pretty funny half hour operation. ## Special Event Planned By Pleasant Grange

A gala night is being planned by members of Pleasant Grange for Wednesday, May 23, when they will entertain with a "Welcome to Hollywood" party. Plans are under way for the event which will be held in the Pleasant School.

A highlight of the two hour entertainment will be the honoring of the persons chosen as the "good neighbor." Residents of the county and communities bordering the county are asked to nominate a "good neighbor." Letters of 250 words or less, sponsoring a person for the honor, are to be mailed to the Grange secretary, Mrs. Ray Dutt, Rt. 7, Marion, before May 19. Winner of this event, together with the sponsor, their husbands or wives, will make up a foursome for an evening of entertainment including dinner and a theater.

An orchid will be flown from Hollywood for the oldest woman present, there will be a silly hat contest and the awarding of a quart coffee pot, foot-long cigar, wishing ring and other prizes throughout the show.

The entertainment will be presented as a radio show. Tickets are being sold by the Grange members. Officers of the Grange, with Wilbur Mocnel as master, are in charge.

House OKs Bill Asking Live TV Of O.S.U. Grid Games

COLUMBUS, May 8—(AP)—A proposed law requiring Ohio State University to seek football telecast agreements with its opponents was halfway through the Ohio legislature today

The House approved the measure 93 to 17 last night and sent it to the Senate

However, even if the Senate approves the bill and the governor signs it, it is no guarantee the Buckeye games will be available on television next fall

The measure requires O S U trustees to go to each opponent school and seek a written agreement for a telecast of the game they have scheduled

If (and mark well the 'if') the consent is granted, then trustees can have university officials contract for the telecasts to the widest possible television audience in the state.

The university, however, may have some trouble getting opponents' consent for the telecasts Both the Western Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association have prohibited t ve telecasts of football games by member schools Ohio State is a member of both groups So are most of its opponents

CRAWFORD DRIVE CLOSES

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

My mother-in-law sent a provocative grin to my father as she gave Bill her hands, and he helped her to rise from her chair. And my father's eyes twinkled as he smiled back at her My own heart was warm at this proof—one of many—that instead of the enmity and suspicion which two such strong and self-willed old people might have cherished, when thrown together in the often melodramatic atmosphere of our family, they had developed a friendly and delightful comradeship, with each genuinely admiring the capabilities of the other.

Katharine already had picked up young Peter and his blanket from the floor, and gone into the bedroom My father looked fondly down at Faith, perched on his knee

I'm afraid you must go into the bedroom too Baby," he said "But as soon as luncheon is on the table, your mother will call you back"

She promptly wriggled down from his knees then turning gave him an enthusiastic bear hug She is one person in the world who is privileged to take liberties with him or to interrupt him at any time

"You know I'll go wherever you tell me to go, Granddaddy,' she said, kissing him, then left him plainly flabbergasted with her farewell words, thrown over her shoulder as she raced to the bedroom

"Even if it's to the cannon's mouth, or the torture chamber," she intoned, then vanished through the bedroom door.

"My word!" my father said, passing his handkerchief across his forehead.

"I'll echo and double-echo that ' Dicky told him 'Madge, whatever are we going to do with that offspring of ours''

'I know,' I said, but my father's voice drowned mine out

"Do'' he thundered 'Do nothing' She's perfectly bewilder ing—and startling—I grant you but she gives me the electric lift I need I don't know when I would get a hearty laugh if she were not around I know I have no right to interfere with your discipline but I do beg of you to let her alone for a little while She'll snap out of it all too soon for me When she grows up you'll wish you could hear some of her absurdities again'

There was in his voice a nostalgic, haunting sadness which I understood only too well It stemmed back to a tragedy of his young manhood when he fell in the throes of an infatuation for my mother's best friend who left my mother and me, then a child of four, and gone away with the other woman"

It had taken him but a short time to realize his awful mistake but when he came back in search of my mother, she had disappeared, and had taken me with her

For years he was known as the "Quester for he always was hunting everywhere for his wife and the child he had deserted and lost He never saw my mother again until after my marriage he saw me with Dicky at a restaurant, and knew, by my resemblance to my mother that he had found his lost daughter.

He has piled up many years of devotion to me since that day of recognition, but I always have realized that, dearly as he loves me, his supreme devotion is given to his small granddaughter named Faith for her grandmother, his lost love, and I knew that his nostalgic words grew out of the bitter knowledge of the past years that, because of his own folly he had deprived himself of all memories of my childhood

The knowledge sharpened my answer to him, and I heard Dicky's, emphatic "You have every right" as I spoke quickly and earnestly:

"I know, Father, and for you, we'll not curb the absurdities"
